Online program recognized by Forbes Advisor Education

Forbes Advisor Education recently recognized UIU for offering one of the best online bachelor's degrees in public administration. Upper Iowa and nine other U.S. institutions were recognized. To determine the 2023 rankings, Forbes Advisor Education sourced data from the National Center for Education Statistics and the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, as well as utilizing an expert advisory board of professionals and educator reviews to verify and ensure content accuracy. The methodology used included 16 data points in various categories weighted by student outcomes, affordability, the student experience, credibility and the application process. The 10 best schools were selected using a curved final score of 71.73% or higher. The ranked schools were all fully accredited, had higher student retention rates, and were nonprofit institutions with relatively low percentages of students in federal student loan deferment.

Science and environment club prepare for the 2024 cicada emergence

In collaboration with the Iowa Department of Natural Resources, UIU's Conservation Management and Science and Environment Club students are conducting a multiyear research project. The initiative will evaluate the availability, use and benefits of the 17-year periodical cicada emergence in 2024 for Driftless Region fish like Brown and Brook Trout. While the use and benefits of this massive insect emergence have been well documented for terrestrial consumers, the benefits of this rarely available resource to aquatic organisms have not been studied.

The goal of this study is to better understand and characterize the ecological linkages between this rarely available resource subsidy and fish populations. With the help of donors to the club's crowdfunding campaign, many of whom were UIU alumni, almost $6,000 was raised to purchase equipment used for evaluating the availability of cicadas to stream fish. During the summer of 2023, students assisted in collecting baseline data from 20 streams throughout Iowa's Driftless Region. During the 2024 cicada emergence, students and faculty will use stream drift samples, fish gut content analysis, isotopic analysis and population surveys to better understand the ecological benefits of this rare resource subsidy for stream fish.

Ecology class helps the Iowa National Heritage Foundation with ecological restoration

Dr. Jennifer Stoffel's BIO 335 Ecology class for conservation management took a trip to a property in northeast Iowa to learn more about ecological principles and practices in land stewardship that the Iowa National Heritage Foundation (INHF) uses. The INHF is a nonprofit organization that focuses on protecting and restoring Iowa's land, water and wildlife.

UIU named a "Best for Vets" college

Upper Iowa University was recently named a "Best for Vets" college by Military Times. UIU ranked 16th in the primarily online category. "The UIU faculty and staff deeply appreciate the commitment of servicemembers to our country," said UIU Director of Military and Veterans Affairs Brandy Branstetter. "In turn, we are honored to assist the entire military family in achieving their educational and career goals without sacrificing their military commitment. We take pride in providing students an education built for life."

According to the Military Times, the Best for Vets: Colleges 2023 rankings represent the most comprehensive annual ranking of schools for military service members and veterans. These rankings play a crucial role in aiding these individuals in making informed decisions about their educational pursuits.

Master of Arts in Psychology launching Fall 2024

UIU will be offering a Master of Arts in Psychology program! This new program will be offered entirely online. Students will have an opportunity to get to know the faculty teaching the program and will have direct opportunities to interact with their peers. Faculty will work directly with students to personalize their program to be most beneficial for them, while preparing students for career advancement, especially leadership and managerial positions. The Master of Arts in Psychology program will give students a strong foundation to further pursue a Ph.D. in a subfield of their choice! Recruitment will begin soon!

COMING SOON! ONLINE PROGRAM ACCEPTING STUDENTS FALL 2024!

Veterans Day program

Upper Iowa hosted a Veterans Day program for the public and the UIU community in November. The event featured Dennis Soppe (right), American Legion Department of Iowa Commander, as the guest speaker.

Following his graduation from North High School in West Union, Iowa, Soppe enlisted in the U.S. Navy in 1966. Soppe's commitment to veterans and service led him to join the American Legion, where he eventually became the Department of Iowa Commander for the State of Iowa and a National Executive Committeeman.

New UIU Counseling Center team member

Carly Heimerdinger, director of Counseling, is the proud owner of Gypsy, the Student Life therapy dog.

The UIU Counseling Center welcomed a new member to its team at the beginning of this academic school year! As a therapy dog, Gypsy, a petite Bernedoodle, is used to support students in therapy-assisted interventions.

All students sign paperwork prior to meeting with a counselor that states whether they want Gypsy in their sessions or not.

Numerous studies show that interacting with animals helps to lower blood pressure, increase engagement, and reduce anxiety and depression. This year, Gypsy has been well received by students, with 74.4% of students reporting that having her in the counseling center would make them more likely to schedule an appointment.

Students become creative with new course

Students can now take advantage of a new course in which their creativity can thrive! Makerspace is a one-credit course offering students an opportunity to enhance their marketing and social media skills. Students work closely with the Office of Communications and Marketing to produce videos, design social media graphics and content, plan events, writing short feature stories and interview alumni so their stories can be shared.

Study abroad trip set for March

A study abroad trip is scheduled for March 1-10, 2024. Dr. Nicole Dennler, assistant professor of communication, and Dr. Gina Kuker, professor of education, will be traveling with 15 students to Southern Germany and Zurich, Switzerland. This culturally immersive tour will highlight historic German landmarks, including the Berlin Wall Memorial, Dachau Concentration Camp Memorial and the Neuschwanstein and Hohenschwangau Castles. With the trip's perfect pairing of big bustling cities and quaint German towns, the group will enjoy a great deal of what Germany has to offer!

Students participate in leadership opportunities held within the tri-state area

During the Dean's Challenge, held April 26-27, 2023, Student Life raised nearly $2,400 for the Cabby Dean's Fund, which supports leadership development for UIU students. Thanks to generous donors, students were able to attend the following three leadership events:

R.E.S.E.T. Business Conference (held in Decorah, Iowa) — students gained strategies on starting and thriving in a small business. Students who attended were (l-r) Frider Blunck, Daigo Adachi and Vitoria Kazanovski; along with Danielle Cushion, assistant vice president for Student Life and chief diversity officer.

Faith and Four Letter Words seminar (held in West Union, Iowa) — presenters shared their experiences as women in the media and the importance of empowering and supporting other women at home and in the workplace. Staff and students who attended as follows. Back row (l-r): Hannah Lykins and Jamie Adams. Middle row (l-r): Lizzie Van Dyk '19 (Amanda Goodman and Tara Thomas, presenters); Kathryn McEnery and Tayler Martin. Front row (l-r): Jasmine Smith and Alaina Sunlin.

The American Student Government Training Conference (held in Chicago, Illinois) — UIU Student Government Association (SGA) members participated in 20 training workshops and roundtables. They gained tips and ideas from student leaders and advisors from colleges and universities of all types and sizes. UIU SGA attendees included (l-r) Myah Brinker, vice president; Mateo Vidaurre, president; and Jamie Adams, secretary.

FACULTY AND STAFF NOTES

Christina Williams (left) and Marlene Franzen (right) joined Dr. Katie Laux, assistant professor of education, in Washington, D.C., in June 2023 for a Noyce Summit. Williams and Franzen are both Noyce Scholars, working on their All Science degrees in teacher education.

The Teaching Elementary Science students are conducting hydroponics projects thanks to grant funding secured by Dr. Katie Laux from the Environmental Issues Instruction grant. Additionally, through this generous grant from the Iowa Department of Education, UIU continued its commitment to supporting paraeducators on their journey to become certified throughout the summer of 2023.

An additional 20 students have successfully fulfilled the requirements and are now certified paraeducators. This achievement is a testament to our ongoing dedication to providing valuable educational opportunities and fostering professional growth within this vital sector of the education community.

Civil War Digital Digest features UIU's 'University Recruits'

Upper Iowa University's 'University Recruits' are being featured in the Civil War Digital Digest. Created by Civil War enthusiast Will Eichler, the Civil War Digital Digest is a YouTube series dedicated to exploring various aspects of Civil War history. The episode features fellow Civil War collector Mike Huston, who details the story of the UIU students who contributed to and enlisted for the Civil War in Company F of the 3rd Iowa Infantry and Company C of the 12th Iowa Infantry.

What is unique about the students is their efforts to recruit others from the area to join them and enlist. This brave group ultimately formed Company C of the 12th Iowa Infantry, otherwise known at the time as the University Recruits. The contributions of UIU's students extended beyond mere enlistment. Women from Upper Iowa hand-sewed the flag that accompanied the recruits to war and elected the color bearer for the company as well.

Company C of the 12th Iowa Infantry was most notably involved in the Battle of Shiloh, with the survivors subsequently serving as prisoners of war, some for up to eight months. Upon their release as part of a trade between the Union and the Confederates, they took part in subsequent engagements at Memphis, Vicksburg and Spanish Fort.

Postwar, several members made significant contributions to American society, with members such as D.W. Reid and David Henderson play significant roles in historical preservation and politics, showcasing the enduring legacy of UIU's University Recruits.

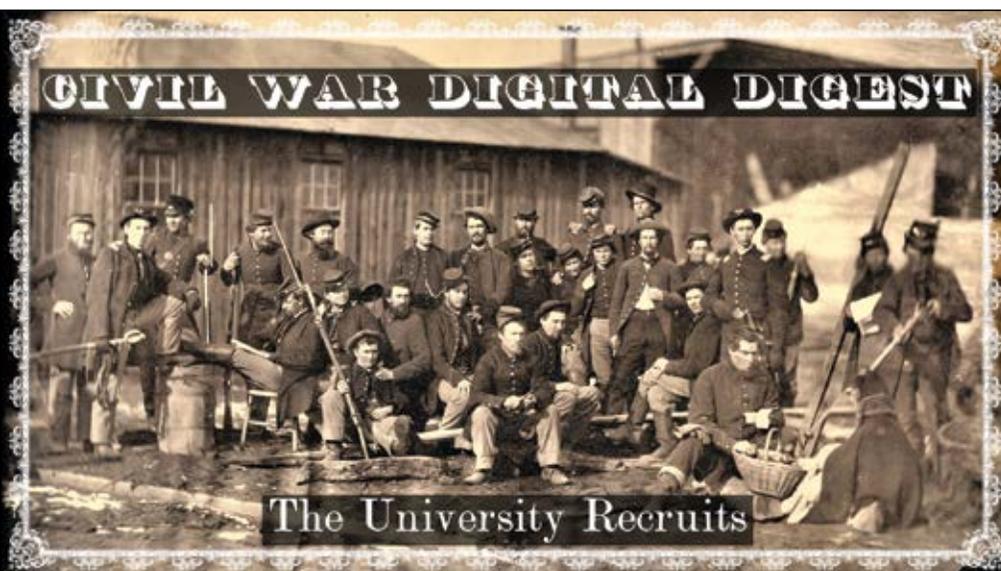

Over the years, UIU has received and displayed artifacts related to the University Recruits and the Civil War, including personal belongings of the students, a field desk and a UIU engraved Enfield Rifle, along with papers and letters that offer a poignant glimpse into the experiences of the UIU students. These artifacts can be found in the Henderson-Wilder Library on the Fayette Campus.

The Civil War Digital Digest's "The University Recruits" takes an inside look into the historical highlights of those recruits during the Civil War, sharing the soldier stories and highlighting their efforts in a captivating and very educational way.

To watch the video, visit the Civil War Digital Digest at youtube.com/@CivilWarDigitalDigest and search for "The University Recruits."

Duffys leave lasting legacy

June 30, 2024, will mark the end of an era at Upper Iowa University, as longtime President Bill Duffy will officially retire from UIU. Dr. Duffy announced his intentions to retire this past spring and is serving out the remainder of his time at UIU in a full-time fundraising role with the University. Inaugurated as Upper Iowa's 21st president in 2013, Duffy was the institution's longest-serving president since Dr. Eugene Garbee and, like Garbee, was named President Emeritus by the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Duffy's tenure at UIU overlapped with rapid and dynamic change at both Upper Iowa and throughout higher education. The Bridge sat down with President Emeritus Duffy to discuss his proudest accomplishments, reflections on the future and what he'll miss most about UIU in his retirement. For a complete version of this interview, visit uiubridge.com/DuffyQA.

Bridge: First of all, congratulations on your retirement. What is the one thing you think about first when you reflect on your time at UIU?

Duffy: First and foremost, Sharon and I will ALWAYS cherish the time spent with members of our Peacock family, who have been so very committed to the future success of UIU, and our students. Many of you have heard me say, "No employee is more important than any other employee; we simply have different duties and responsibilities." As such, our BEST memories have always been, and will always be, the lifelong relationships we have made with our UIU employees, students, alumni/friends, and our Board of Trustees. Words cannot adequately express how honored and blessed we are to have had you all in our lives throughout this journey. For the record, we're not done yet, and I have NO DOUBT our UIU family will continue to ensure the future success of our students and UIU!

Bridge: As you begin to look back at your tenure as UIU's 21st president, what are a couple of the accomplishments that make you especially proud?

Duffy: First and foremost, I consider any accomplishment to be the result of total teamwork, and I give full credit to all of our Peacock family members who spent much time planning, working overtime, collaborating, and doing everything possible to ensure the future success of our students and UIU. Having said this, here are a few achievements I'm especially proud of:

- 1. Maintaining and improving UIU's accreditation: The most recent accreditation results are the BEST results I've seen in my 14+ years at UIU. I especially thank VP Doug Binsfeld for his invaluable knowledge and experience with the accreditation process and Dr. Billie Cowley '03, '08, dean for Academic and Educational Affairs, for her outstanding academic leadership. To everyone else involved, THANK YOU ALL for your teamwork and total commitment to UIU's success!
- 2. Establishing UIU's current core values and strategic plan: Core values and a concise strategic plan are essential to the success of any organization. In addition, every organization needs to periodically review and update these documents. Accordingly, UIU involved all stakeholders in strategic plans throughout my presidency and implemented, were guided by and continually assessed initiatives throughout the year at all levels.

- 3. Increasing UIU's endowment: Since becoming UIU's president, the University endowment has more than doubled, growing from $9 million to over $20 million currently. We have done this by adding more restricted endowments for scholarships and programs and, even more importantly, generated support for UIU's unrestricted endowment. A BIG THANKS to VP Andrew Wenthe and the entire alumni and advancement team for being part of this effort!
- 4. Becoming a member of the Great Lakes Valley Conference: During my third year as president, it became fairly clear that the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference (NSIC) Conference was not a good fit for UIU. Previously, our staff and our student-athletes were competing with large public universities, traveling long distances (a 13-hour bus trip to Minot State was very challenging for the student-athletes and their studies), dealing with numerous competition cancellations due to severe and unsafe winter driving conditions, and having to pay much higher travel expenses for travel and lodging! Typically, it takes two or three years to move from one NCAA conference to another. UIU completed the entire process in less than one year. Kudos to VP Rick Hartzell and his staff for helping to ensure the future safety and success of our student-athletes!

Bridge: Your wife, Sharon, was UIU's first lady for over 10 years and was involved in several UIU initiatives. Please describe what Sharon meant to UIU throughout your tenure as UIU's president.

Duffy: Without question, Sharon's role as first lady made a huge impact during our time at UIU. Not only is she my partner in life; she was my partner in everything UIU! She was always by my side, attending functions, sporting events and alumni visits. She loved to entertain and was always willing to host gatherings at our home.

She was involved in many initiatives at the university. The first was the renovation of the president's residence. When I first became president,

at Upper Iowa University

the president's residence needed a major renovation. We formed a committee to help with decisions, raised money for two years, and were finally able to move in during our third year. It was important to Sharon and me to maintain the integrity of the home and to honor those who came before us. She also wanted to make sure it felt warm and inviting, not like a museum. We hosted so many events there, gave tours and made sure everyone knew they were always welcome. We are so grateful to everyone who helped out with this project, with a very special thank-you to Chris Andres, the late Diane Harms, and the EYE girls, who all spent many hours helping and providing resources to ensure the renovation was successful!

The second big initiative that Sharon took on was the President's Ball (it was her idea to have a formal event similar to the military balls we attended annually throughout my military career). It was important to us to have an event each year to raise money and to bring awareness to the importance of giving back to the university. This was a night when we brought our entire UIU community together — staff, faculty, sponsors, alumni, students and community members — to say thank you for all they do to support UIU! Thus far, the President's Ball has raised nearly $1.5 million! We will forever be grateful for everyone who made this event so special!

Sharon loved our students as though they were part of our own family. At the beginning of each new school year, we would walk through all the dorms while new students were moving in to make sure they were happy. Afterward, we would host a Bon Voyage event at the president's residence for the parents. We would serve coffee and cookies — and Kleenex. The point of all of this was to get to know the students from day one and to let the parents know that they were leaving their children in good hands.

Bridge: You've described your current fundraising role at UIU as "your final UIU mission." Describe what you mean by that and what you hope to accomplish before your retirement.

Duffy: UIU established an $8 million fundraising goal for the 15-month period prior to my retirement in June 2024. As of early December 2023, we have achieved a little more than $5.8 million toward that significant goal. However, while UIU has received a number of large gifts to help ensure UIU can achieve our fundraising goal, it is essential in the future for even more alumni to get involved as donors to UIU. Specifically, I'm appealing to all UIU alumni and friends to please consider the impact of giving smaller donations on a recurring basis (monthly, quarterly or annually).

I will provide you with the perfect example of how we can significantly increase donors for UIU. Nearly three years ago, I received a call from UIU alumni Tom Gray '72. Tom is a dear and humble friend whom I met early in my presidency. He is a retired teacher and lives in Iowa. He briefly mentioned that he had just experienced some very difficult surgery, was isolated for 20 days with another medical issue and was dealing with COVID-19!

Shortly after his update, Tom asked, "Can I help UIU in any way?" I thanked Tom, and let him know we had everything under control. I then asked Tom if he goes out to eat often, and he said, "Often enough." I said, "Well how about instead of eating out one day a month, take that $25 and consider donating that amount to UIU every month?" He said, "Hmmm, I'll think about it." Three months later, Tom called and said, "President Duffy, it's working, and I'm increasing the amount!" His goal is now to give $80 per month. If UIU could get 10% of our alumni to make even a $25 recurring gift once a month, rest assured that not only would our current goal be achieved, but our UIU family would far surpass that goal and improve the UIU experience for generations to come! So I suppose it would be more accurate to say that I have two final missions — to hit the $8 million fundraising goal and to motivate more UIU alumni to become regular donors to their alma mater.

Bridge: The Board has granted you the title of President Emeritus, a special honor at UIU. Any final thoughts or "words of wisdom" you would like to share with your Peacock family?

Duffy: Simply stated, it has been the greatest honor in our lives to serve UIU as a vice president, president, and first lady for the past 14+ years. The GREATEST part of UIU are our dedicated Board members, our employees who have weathered many challenging storms, and our wonderful alumni and friends who are committed to UIU's future success! We will also miss being engaged with our students and their families on a day-to-day basis; however, we will always continue to stay in touch with many of our Peacock family members and, of course, watch UIU compete in Athletics!

As for "words of wisdom," here are some that I'm sure a few employees have heard me say occasionally: Always give credit to your employees, and accept the responsibility for failures; once a decision is made, own it as your own; bad news never gets better; set the standards for others to emulate; people don't care how much you know until they know how much you care; keep it simple; bottom line up front; if it's really important, call or visit me; I'm a Times Roman, 12 font guy; and HOOAH! Lastly, I want to say a special thank-you to Andrew Wenthe, Kathy Franken and Holly Wolff, who have all been working side by side with me throughout most of my years at UIU! 🏆

Upper Iowa University announces 22nd president

The Board of Trustees at Upper Iowa University has named Kathy Franken '12 MHEA, as the University's 22nd president. This marks a milestone in UIU history, as Franken is the first woman president to lead the University.

“Since becoming interim president in May 2023, Kathy has led the University through a number of critical initiatives, which made it clear that Kathy is the right individual at the right time to assume this very important role,” said UIU Board of Trustees Chairman, Scott Lebin. “The Board of Trustees has considerable faith and trust in Kathy’s ability to effectively serve as president, as well as the entire leadership team, faculty and staff who work tirelessly to fulfill UIU’s mission.”

Franken led Upper Iowa through a process of reimagining UIU’s academic offerings, athletic offerings and geographic locations. She also provided direction on the “Reimagine UIU” strategic plan, restructuring University leadership positions and efforts to reduce operating expenses.

Franken’s tenure at UIU started in the Waterloo Center in 2008, beginning as an academic advisor to adult learners before assuming the Waterloo Center director position. Before serving as interim president, Franken was vice president for Finance and Enrollment Management, overseeing University finances, Business Office Services, Facilities Management, Information Technology, Enrollment Management and Services, and Auxiliary Services.

“I am humbled and honored to become Upper Iowa’s 22nd president,” shared Franken. “I look forward to continued momentum for UIU that is driven by collaboration, and a student-centered learning and living environment. From my earliest days as an academic advisor, I have recognized the important role Upper Iowa plays in helping students reach their educational goals while supporting the workforce

Introducing the 2023 Alumni Award recipients

The following alumni were recognized for their accomplishments either professionally, as an emerging alum, or through service to the university or their communities during the Alumni Awards and Honor Class Brunch, held Oct. 14, 2023. If you would like to nominate an individual for a 2024 alumni award, visit uiu.edu/alumni-awards.

SERVICE TO UNIVERSITY AWARD – Jason Berggren '17

Jason enlisted in the U.S. Navy in 1990 and spent nearly 30 years defending our country, with assignments in Hawaii, Japan, Afghanistan and beyond. A natural leader, Jason was deployed with the Defense Logistics Agency as the command senior enlisted leader and later retired in 2016.

He earned his Associate of Arts in general business in 2017. He began connecting with his alma mater at alumni events and the UIU Iowa State Fair booth. Jason and his wife, Maggie, joined Team Peacock and have been cycling with the team and fundraising for Upper Iowa ever since. When they are unable to ride, they are support crew members and team sponsors. Jason has also served as the keynote speaker at UIU's Veterans Day program. In addition, he was recently featured in a UIU video to share his own story of being an adult learner. This effort helped raise money for student scholarships, specifically adult learners.

Jason and Maggie reside in Indianola, Iowa, and he works as a regional facility maintenance manager at Walmart Stores Inc. He's an avid fisherman and enjoys spending time with his children, Colton and Caitlin, and his granddaughter, Charlotte. The University appreciates all that Jason has done, and continues to do, to support his alma mater.

EMERGING ALUMNI AWARD – Bridget Saffold '20

Bridget earned her Bachelor of Science in Nursing in 2020, utilizing UIU's online platform. In 2015, she launched Focus on Diabetes, a nonprofit organization promoting additional diabetes education beyond the clinic. During the pandemic, this evolved as she recognized an incredible need in her community.

Diabetic patients were struggling to gain access to essential supplies, resulting in alarming life-or-death situations.

She acted swiftly and launched the "Focus on Diabetes COVID-19 Assist Program," which provided supplies to more than 200 individuals. She and a team of volunteers would drop off supplies at the doorsteps of those who were in need and also arranged for drive-through and other pickup locations throughout the community. Bridget's organization partners with Allen College of Nursing and Hawkeye Community College to immerse health care students in the community and provide hands-on learning opportunities.

In the fall of 2022, Iowa Governor Kim Reynolds declared Sept. 5-10 as Focus on Diabetes Week in Iowa due to the success of Bridget's annual event raising awareness and offering health screenings. Her organization continues to expand. Project Health, a prostate cancer initiative, was recently launched to improve services and the screening process in Black Hawk County.

In addition to her nonprofit, Bridget is also a clinic operations supervisor for MercyOne. Currently, she resides in Waterloo, Iowa.

SERVICE TO COMMUNITY AWARD – William Kunzman '69

Bill earned his Bachelor of Science in 1969, majoring in mathematics and physics. For the last 23 years, Bill and his wife, Phyllis, wintered in Mission, Texas. At age 85, one might assume he was enjoying the typical retirement community activities. But not Bill. He became involved in and took over Mabel's Building

Mission, leading a group of retired senior citizens in building homes for impoverished families in Mexico.

He spearheaded a team of volunteers who would drive nearly two hours twice each week, October through May, to build modest homes measuring 12 by 16 feet, accommodating up to six people and all of their basic needs. Each home costs approximately $2,000, so he would also organize fundraising efforts to complete the project. He shared with friends once that he couldn't believe how much someone would generously contribute for one apple pie! For his years of service, it's estimated Bill was responsible for the completion of 540 homes, impacting nearly 3,000 young couples and children.

Completely community-minded, Bill poured his heart and soul into countless organizations back in Iowa, including St. John Lutheran Church in Nashua, Strawberry Point Jaycees, Nashua City Council, Park Board, Ambulance Service, VFW Post, Meals on Wheels and more.

Sadly, Bill passed away on Aug. 14, 2023, after a short battle with lung cancer. His family knows he would have been extremely honored to receive this recognition.

PROFESSIONAL ACCOMPLISHMENT AWARD – Carl Hargrave '76

Carl graduated with a Bachelor of Science in physical education in 1976. Some of you may recall him as a star defensive back on the Peacock football team, earning first-team All-Conference honors all four years. He was drafted by the NFL's Oakland Raiders soon after graduation and later returned to the UIU campus to join the Peacock coaching staff until 1980.

Carl excelled at coaching football alongside some rather noteworthy mentors at the collegiate and professional levels, including Northwestern University, the University of Iowa, the University of Pittsburg, the University of Houston, Mesa Community College, the Minnesota Vikings and the Arizona Cardinals.

In 2015, Carl became the founder, owner and director of Fit Four Recovery, serving Phoenix and Denver. The aim is to inspire those fighting drug and alcohol addiction to turn their lives around through engagement in personal fitness.

What sets Carl's approach apart from other programs is that he inspires people through his personal journey with addiction. He infuses his extensive knowledge of fitness and coaching with a drive to foster a supportive team environment. His organization has impacted hundreds of men and women who have turned their lives around through a commitment to fitness and well-being. While Carl no longer coaches on the football field, he takes great pride in "coaching on the field of life."

Bill and Sharon Duffy present sponsor gifts during the dinner program to Peter and Laura Clemens (top left); Svetlana McCurry '20, '22 (top right); Fred Koch and Pam Whitmore '65; and Randy Kies from Woolverton Printing. UIU exceeded its goal, raising over $205,000 for 2023! Over the last 11 years, this impressive event has generated over $1.5 million to support students and emerging needs for the University.

The night's festivities kicked off with a lively dance-off contest, highlighting the skills of dance enthusiasts (l-r) Matt Cowley '00, Earnest Tucker, Matt Mickelson '86 and Dr. Duffy. Once completed, the cheerleaders rallied guests to dig into their pockets and donate for their favorite contender. The winner who earned the most funds was none other than Matt Cowley!

Initiating the dance portion of the ball, Dr. Duffy and Sharon captivate spectators with their graceful waltz and timeless elegance.

Phillip Knighten, Phyllis Kunzman and Tonia Knighten, family of William Kunzman '69, Charles City, Iowa, pose for a photo while waiting for the festivities to begin. William, who passed away in August 2023, was the recipient of the Service to Community Award, and his family received the award in his honor.

Matt Mickelson '86 takes the stage as the alumni keynote speaker, reflecting on his fondest UIU memories and the importance of staying connected to his alma mater.

Touchdown Against Cancer: A College Football Hero's Journey to Victory, Resilience and Graduation!

Another very special portion of the President's Ball program was a featured video presentation. UIU senior Ian Smith was diagnosed with Ewing sarcoma in the fall of 2022. His Peacock family rallied around him, offering support and encouragement throughout his cancer journey. No doubt, his resilience, determination, positive attitude and deep beliefs are what carried him through a very scary time in his life. Ian is now cancer-free and working hard to complete his business administration degree.

Second Peacock Power 24-Hour Challenge sets new UIU Athletics record for giving

The UIU Athletics Department hosted the second Peacock Power 24-Hour Challenge on Wednesday, Nov. 15, 2023. Alumni, family and friends of Peacock Athletics stepped up and generated a record amount of gifts for the second-straight year.

Nearly 600 donors, 594 to be precise, generated $138,933 toward the 16 Peacock sport programs, strength and conditioning, and student-athlete development. The 2023 total surpassed the inaugural challenge total by nearly $12,000.

“We are extremely appreciative to have received a $41,000 gift from Roger and Alice Mangan as part of the day’s success,” said Rick Hartzell, UIU vice president for Athletics. “While a large portion of that gift will support the men’s wrestling team, the Mangans also earmarked $11,000 of their support to be spread between women’s wrestling, men’s and women’s golf, men’s and women’s basketball, baseball, and women’s cross country and track and field, as well as strength and conditioning and student-athlete development. We are grateful to the Mangans and blessed by their support of the Peacock Athletics department.”

The gifts generated through the second Peacock Power 24-Hour Challenge will directly impact Peacock student-athletes by providing them with the resources needed to have a first-class experience at Upper Iowa.

The donors that gave, no matter the amount, have provided the means for us to help our student-athletes reach their full potential in the classroom, on the playing field and in the community.

“We couldn’t be more excited, humbled and blessed by the outpouring of support for the Upper Iowa Athletics department,” said Howie Thompson, senior associate athletics director for External Operations. “Thank you to all 594 donors that stepped up and generously gave to our programs.

“The support given to the Peacock sports, as well as strength and conditioning and student-athlete development, is a testament to the amount of love that our alumni, family and friends have for Upper Iowa and the amount of faith they have in how we do business in the Athletics department. The student-athlete experience is our number one priority and underscores our three core values of grit, pride and growth.”

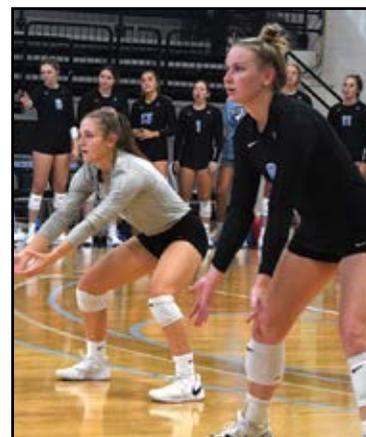

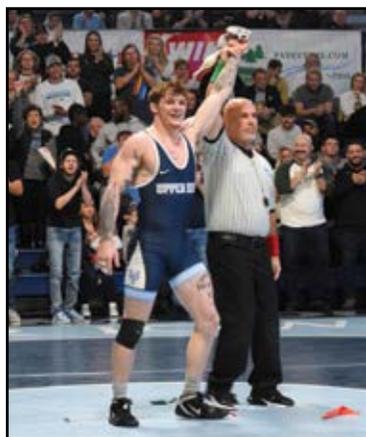

“ We are extremely appreciative to have received a $41,000 gift from Roger and Alice Mangan as part of the day’s success... We are grateful to the Mangans and blessed by their support of the Peacock Athletics department.”

Passing the torch with the Alumni Referral Program

Nate Mendoza '07 was excited to discover the opportunity and benefit of submitting an Alumni Referral. With no hesitation, he referred his niece, Mya Mendoza.

“I was the first person in our family to graduate college. I was also fortunate enough to receive an athletic scholarship to Upper Iowa to play baseball from 2005 to 2007. I played for Coach Mark Danker and was named All-Conference and team captain my senior year,” said Nate.

“In the two seasons I was there, I started every game at third base and was named defensive player of the year. More importantly, I received an excellent education from UIU, and the experience I had there absolutely made a huge impact on who I am today. I am married and a father of three children. My career has included high school special education teacher, head baseball coach and head football coach. I have been a high school administrator for the past seven years, and I am also currently the head football coach at Santa Barbara High School. Selfishly, I would love nothing more than to have my niece receive the same experience at UIU that I had 17 years ago.”

Within weeks of Nate submitting his Alumni Referral, Mya traveled to the Fayette Campus for a tour and to learn more about UIU. The result? She felt Upper Iowa was a great fit for her and enrolled! Mya is thankful to receive a $500 Alumni Referral tuition award each semester, thanks to her uncle. She is currently pursuing a degree in education, is a member of the women's wrestling team, volunteers with the Student Philanthropy Club and works on campus for the Student Engagement Crew.

Since its November 2021 launch, the Alumni Referral program has produced 55 matriculated students and 4 registered students, thanks to 131 alumni referrals. You too can make a difference by submitting a referral. Who do you know who would be a great fit for UIU?

4. All who submit a referral are proudly recognized on our website.

Celebrating 50+ years of adult learning

Upper Iowa continues to recognize the accomplishments and achievements of alumni who have graduated from the Self-Paced, Online or Center learning experiences, all of which stemmed from the original Coordinated Off-Campus Degree Program, launched in 1973. The Self-Paced degree program was designed to provide educational opportunities to working adults wanting to earn a bachelor's degree and has helped nearly 3,500 UIU alumni achieve their educational goals during its 50-year span. The program also created a blueprint for UIU's foray into other expansions in adult-focused education. To read more stories featuring our adult learners, visit uiu.edu/50YearsStories.

Two-time UIU alum plays leading role at Wisconsin's No. 1 ranked hospital

Robert "Bob" Flannery '88, '99 credits a blue-collar work ethic developed as a youngster growing up in small-town Wisconsin, two UIU degrees and a willingness to learn from others as a few reasons why he now serves on the executive team at Wisconsin's No. 1 ranked hospital.

Flannery has served as the chief financial officer for UW Health, the integrated health system of University of Wisconsin–Madison, since 2016. Serving over 700,000 patients annually, UW Health employs over 1,700 physicians and 24,000 employees in seven hospitals and at more than 70 locations. UW Health, which also is a partner in a 368,000-member health plan, was recently ranked by U.S. News & World Report as the Best Hospital in Wisconsin for the 12th consecutive year.

In his current role, Flannery has oversight of finance, managed care contracting, the physician practice plan and the revenue cycle team. He also plays a leadership role in strategic planning, including long-term planning for facility and equipment needs within the system, which currently is in various stages of development on multiple projects totaling hundreds of millions of dollars.

A career as expansive as the one he enjoys now was not immediately in the cards for Flannery after growing up and graduating from high school in the small town of Argyle, Wisconsin (pop. 850). Having worked at his uncle's farm beginning at a young age, a career in dairy farming was his immediate pursuit after graduation. However, Flannery's uncle convinced him that he need not lock into that career, which had its own set of challenges and stressors, especially in the 1980s. Flannery was convinced to enroll at Madison Business College one year after earning his high school degree. Flannery met a friend and future roommate at Madison Business College, Scott Link '88. They both received their Associate of Arts degree and then immediately enrolled at Upper Iowa's Madison location in the business program.

Flannery worked for three years in the finance department at Physicians Plus Medical Group, primarily focusing on accounts payable and payroll. Little did Flannery know that this position would lead him to a 37-year (and counting) career in health care finance administration. Link and Flannery both successfully completed their CPA exams after earning their bachelor's degrees, and Flannery eventually parlayed his experience into the role of vice president of finance at a hospital in Monroe, Wisconsin.

Ironically, this hospital was where his mother, Janice, worked for many years in the environmental services department. Flannery recalls visiting his mother in her department over many lunch hours after he became the vice president of finance. Eventually, Flannery accepted a role with UW Health in 2002, commuting first for several years before moving to Madison in 2010.

Flannery recalls receiving an excellent education during both his undergrad and graduate stints at UIU. The faculty, staff and adult learners he encountered were outstanding people. He proudly attended his commencement ceremony when receiving his Master of Arts in 1999, which he earned one year after marrying his wife, Angela, who also worked in health care finance. Bob and Angela have raised two daughters, Caitie and Alivia. Caitie is a registered nurse working for UW Health, and Alivia will be a junior at UW–Madison as a nursing student.

Rising the ranks at John Deere

After eight years toiling in the “computer room” at John Deere’s Quad Cities location, Merlin Sebastian ’76 knew that a college degree would be necessary to reach his goal of working in the company’s systems department. Originally from Postville, Sebastian was aware of Upper Iowa and took classes via UIU’s Correspondence program from 1974 to 1976, including three weeks on the Fayette Campus in 1976.

Dr. Duffy and Merlin Sebastian ’76

“I remember Dr. Charlie Clark fondly as well as Dr. William Drake, an IT professor at UIU,” said Sebastian. “Dr. Drake would joke with some of us who were already working fulltime with computers, which weren’t all that common in the mid-1970s, that we might know more about them than he did! But there was no question that without my UIU degree, I would not have completed a 36-year career at John Deere, primarily working in systems.”

During his illustrious career, Sebastian developed processes using what were new technologies at the time, including working on the mainframe and with IBM and Tandem computers to put together warehouse systems. One of his most satisfying projects was integrating an automated storage and retrieval system into John Deere’s warehouse control system. His work took him to John Deere’s facilities in Germany, sparking a love of travel that would stay with him well after his career. Following his retirement from John Deere, Sebastian consulted for Rock Island Arsenal on a nearly full-time basis for eight years.

Merlin and his wife, Lynne, have been married for nearly 58 years and enjoy traveling around the world, including five trips to Japan and long cruises in different parts of the world every April. They have three kids, 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. 🏆

‘Poor country boy’ to telecom executive

Phil Matthews ’83 looks back with pride at a journey that took him from being born a “poor country boy” in Durham, North Carolina, to a nearly 40-year career with stops around the world in the early days of the modern telecommunications industry. Matthews began his long career with General Telephone & Electronics, once the largest independent telephone company in the U.S. and now known as Verizon, prior to earning a college degree.

“After rising to become a district manager in one of our Georgia offices,” recalls Matthews, “I realized that everyone reporting to me had a college degree and that I’d need to have the same if I wanted to continue to advance.”

Upper Iowa enjoyed one of its earliest corporate partnerships with GTE at the time, and Matthews was able to earn his education at his employer’s expense provided he maintained a “B” average. After taking many courses via UIU’s Correspondence program, Matthews spent two summer sessions in Fayette, eventually earning his degree in 1983 at the age of 42. Matthews later earned a master’s degree from Dallas Baptist University, in addition to taking management training courses at both Duke University and the University of North Carolina.

Matthews’ career path included stints leading a five-state region as a general manager in Durham, a district manager position in Georgia and a business planning position at the corporate headquarters in Connecticut. During the 1990s, Matthews worked in GTE’s international department, which included lengthy stints in Venezuela, Argentina, Indonesia, Thailand and China. Matthews eventually retired from GTE during its merger with Bell Atlantic in 1999.

Phil and his wife of 60 years, Jerri, have enjoyed a variety of activities during their retirement, including sailing, golf, woodworking and travel. They currently reside in Sun City, Texas. 🏆

HERITAGE Society

The Heritage Society was created to recognize and honor those who have included Upper Iowa University in their estate plans or have made some other type of planned gift commitment. During fiscal year 2023, 13 Heritage Society commitments were made, resulting in a 44% increase over fiscal year 2022.

We were delighted to welcome Ed Menuey '91 and his wife, Judith, as new Society members. Ed attended UIU-Waterloo and earned his management degree in 1991. He enjoyed a 44-year career at John Deere in supply chain and other roles. Ed and Judith reside in Easley, South Carolina, and support Peacock students any chance they can!

Estate planning is an important task for everyone to complete. And UIU has a convenient (and free) resource that all alumni may utilize. FreeWill is an online will-writing tool that allows anyone to produce a legally binding will in about 20 minutes. So far, 198 alumni have taken advantage of this beneficial opportunity.

If you've opted to work directly with a financial advisor, that's great too. If you wish to be recognized as a Heritage Society member, we ask that you please complete a letter of intent so we may properly document your specific intentions.

Questions may be directed to Andrew Wenthe, vice president for external affairs, at wenthea@uiu.edu or 563-425-5348, or visit uiu.edu/HeritageSociety.

Thank you, Heritage Society members!

ENGAGEMENT Crew

These dedicated students connect with alumni of the University throughout the year. They are calling to provide campus updates, update our system, learn about your experiences and inform you of what is happening at the University. The student call center is located in the lower level of the Alumni House in Fayette. Our 16 callers come from a variety of academic backgrounds, such as business, conservation management, criminal justice and education. Share with them your experiences and guidance!

Calls also provide an opportunity for you to support your passion at the University. Our students understand the impact your gifts have on their experiences and enjoy the opportunity to personally thank you for all you do to support the University.

Student callers are vital to the success of fundraising at Upper Iowa University and to maintaining strong relationships with alumni. Students are the best ambassadors to talk about the Peacock experience because they're living it. Our students are looking forward to talking with you. Thank you for your support!

“ Being a part of this team for two years now has allowed me to interact with Peacocks from various campuses and different walks of life. The best part is hearing their stories from when they were at UIU and learning from their experiences. UIU was and has always been about the people! The Crew has helped me develop my interactive skills and is a great way to contribute and help UIU make a positive change for the current and future Peacocks.”

2023 stats & facts

Scholarship initiative to benefit

An Upper Iowa University education will become even more affordable for 10 members of each of UIU's next two incoming classes thanks to the generous support of Ralph and Erica Kauten.

Kauten, a native of rural Fayette County and student at UIU in the late '60s and early '70s, has committed $500,000 to establish the Kauten Scholars program at UIU. The scholarship initiative aligns the charitable priorities of the Kautens with the strategic priorities of UIU. The generous contribution will be used to award annual scholarships to 10 qualifying students from each of the two incoming classes. The fortunate Kauten Scholars recipients will receive up to $24,000 in tuition aid funded by this program during their four-year educational journey at UIU, provided they remain in good academic standing.

The Kauten Scholars initiative is a continuation of UIU's efforts to make a quality college degree accessible at an affordable price. In 2021, UIU announced the Peacock Promise initiative, which makes tuition free for any Iowa student who qualifies for the Iowa Tuition Grant. The Kauten Scholars program will target students who do not meet the income requirements for the Iowa Tuition Grant but who still demonstrate financial need.

"The granting of a scholarship will provide a person with encouragement and the resources to improve their capabilities allowing them to achieve their potential and improve the lives of the people they touch. With the right encouragement, support and their personal determination, these students will make life on earth better for all of us," said Kauten.

“ We know there are students who still face barriers standing in the way of attending college and the Kauten Scholars program will help to remove these obstacles.”

Kathy Franken
UIU President/CFO

"UIU's recent tuition reset, the Peacock Promise; merit scholarships for all incoming Fayette Campus students; and a bevy of donor-funded 'Honors & Awards' scholarships all combine to make a UIU education incredibly affordable," said Kathy Franken, UIU President/CFO. "However, we know there are students who still face barriers standing in the way of attending college, and the Kauten Scholars program will help to remove these obstacles."

Kauten co-founded or led several startup companies in the life sciences and biotechnology industries. He is currently the owner of Air-Lec Industries and co-owner of Mirus Bio. He has previously co-founded or served in a leadership role at Promega Corporation, PanVera Corporation, Mirus Bio, Quintessence Biosciences Inc., and Lucigen Corporation. The Kautens currently live in Madison, Wisconsin, where Ralph serves as a board member for several private and public organizations in the Madison area. However, he continues to care deeply about the rural Northeast Iowa region where he grew up as the youngest of 11 children on a family farm near Fayette.

“Strengthening and adding vitality to rural communities is important, and institutions like Upper Iowa University are a critical part of keeping places like Fayette alive,” said Kauten. “Erica and I are proud to provide these scholarships, which will not only help UIU students but also assist in growing UIU’s Fayette Campus.”

Kauten Scholars recipients will be selected by a small committee with representation from the UIU faculty and the admissions, financial aid, and advancement departments. Kauten Scholars will receive the UIU Merit Scholarship that they are eligible to receive based on past academic performance plus an additional Kauten Scholars tuition award, for a combined $6,000 annual aid package. Students may also be eligible for additional aid during their UIU career, such as Honors & Awards scholarships, further reducing their tuition costs.

Preference will be given to students coming to Fayette from rural-serving school districts who also demonstrate financial need but who are not eligible for UIU’s Peacock Promise scholarship, which makes tuition free at the Fayette Campus. Since the creation of the Peacock Promise program, UIU has increased the number of Iowa residents attending the Fayette Campus by over 90%.

“Because of Ralph and Erica’s support, the Kauten Scholars initiative will provide our Admissions team with an important recruitment tool while enhancing our ability to make a college degree attainable to students who might otherwise not be able to afford one,” said Kathy Wenthold, executive director of admissions and retention. “We are excited to meet the first cohort of Kauten Scholars students during this year’s recruitment season and look forward to celebrating their successes at UIU and as alumni in the years ahead.”

“With the right encouragement, support and their personal determination, these students will make life on earth better for all of us.”

The gift establishing the Kauten Scholars initiative is not the first time the Kautens have lent their support to UIU and area students. In 2012, Ralph and Erica established the Ralph Kauten Endowed Scholarship at UIU, which has gone on to support six West Central and North Fayette-Valley graduates who went on to attend Upper Iowa. Nearly $20,000 has been awarded from this endowed scholarship, and it has produced UIU alumni who are now enjoying careers spanning fields from law to teaching.

“I understand the value of investing in educational opportunities that can help to change lives,” said Kauten. “This has been true for me as a prior UIU endowed scholar and with our 2012 endowed scholarship program at UIU. We are happy to hopefully make an even larger impact with the Kauten Scholars program.”

HONORS & AWARDS Program

Over $460,000 in scholarships was awarded to 187 UIU students in fiscal year 2023. The Honors and Awards Committee is excited to coordinate this tremendous program once again.

NEW THIS YEAR! Students no longer need to complete an online application. To simplify the process and eliminate unnecessary stress on our students, all students who meet the criteria are eligible to receive Honors & Awards Scholarships.

Mark your calendars: All are invited to attend the Annual Honors & Awards Banquet on Saturday, April 13, 2024, at Fayette Campus. The dinner program is a Peacock favorite. It's a wonderful way to recognize our incredible students and honor generous donors who make these awards possible. Banquet RSVPs are required. Please visit our website at uiu.edu/alumni-events to sign up.

Battle of the Generations!

April 24-25, 2024 | uiu.edu/GivingDay

Peacock alumni endow scholarships

Longtime UIU Athletics booster Darwin Dean '99 cemented his legacy at his alma mater by establishing the Darwin Dean Endowed Scholarship late in 2023. The endowment will support a scholarship for a female student-athlete, with the first recipient to be acknowledged at the 2024 Honors & Awards Banquet in April. The recipient must have a 3.0 GPA or higher and will be a rising junior or senior participating in athletics at UIU.

Dean, who lives in Fayette, is an ardent and passionate fan of the Peacocks. He can almost always be found in the same section of bleachers in Dorman Gymnasium to cheer on the volleyball and basketball teams or at his familiar perch in the Harms-Eischeid Stadium Suites for football games. His devotion and faithfulness to women's athletics at UIU extends back over a decade, with years of consistent and generous support for all women's sports.

In addition to the legacy Dean will leave with his endowed scholarship, this faithful alumnus has been recognized for his support of a variety of projects benefiting UIU Athletics, including equipment enhancements at the Peacock Arts & Athletics Center and the UIU Softball field.

Dean attended UIU's Fayette Campus as an adult learner, earning a degree in management information systems in 1999. He is a proud member of UIU's Heritage Society and has been recognized as a member of UIU's Donor Club every year since the program's inception.

Twenty years after his graduation, Deo Sanders '01, '03 decided it was time to demonstrate his passion and appreciation for Upper Iowa University and the impact it made on his life. Deo, along with wife Kayla, made a gift of $25,000 in late 2023 to endow a scholarship that will help to keep the college dream alive for students who have experienced significant hardship that could otherwise stand in the way of attaining a college degree. Deo and Kayla made an additional $5,000 gift to jump-start the scholarship program.

Sanders, born and raised in Carsicana, Texas, just outside of Dallas, left his home state for the very first time at the age of 18 to board a Greyhound bus bound for UIU's Fayette Campus to meet UIU Basketball Coach Dave Martin. The first in his family to attend college, Sanders arrived at UIU on a scholarship and left four years later with several basketball accolades, two degrees, and a job offer from Pfizer Pharmaceuticals. Deo spent 20 years with Pfizer, working in Oncology sales, sales training, leadership, and marketing. He now works for Gilead Sciences in a role that allows him to lead a United States-based team that educates breast cancer thought leaders and physicians on a variety of oncology pharmaceutical options.

"If I hadn't gotten the opportunity to attend UIU and instead had stayed in the Dallas area, my life would be very different today," said Sanders. "I loved everything about my experience at UIU."

Sanders recalls having two internship opportunities offered during his senior year; one with Pfizer and the other with Valley Fair amusement park in Minnesota. He opted for the Pfizer gig and the company offered him a full-time job in February of his senior year. Sanders has balanced a successful career with a desire to give back to his community. In addition to their recent gift to establish an endowment at UIU, the young couple support scholarships for students from Deo's high school who are headed to college. You can learn more information about Sanders' efforts at www.sanderscommunity.org.

"There are students who attend college whose parents don't have $1,000 in the bank at the time of their attendance," said Sanders. "I was one of those students and am very grateful to now be able to provide value to others in perpetuity. Being able to partner with Upper Iowa creating space for students with financial need brings our family great joy!"

Deo and Kayla currently live in Houston with their daughter, Levi Grace (6), and son, Deo Jr. (19 months). Daughter Makena (18) is a freshman at the University of Oklahoma.

STUDENT PHILANTHROPY Council

For the Students, by the Students

The Student Philanthropy Council (SPC) is a volunteer student group serving as philanthropic ambassadors for UIU. Their goal is to inspire a tradition of giving among students. Working closely with the Alumni Office, they organize student-led fundraising (and friend-raising) projects with the highest level of integrity, professionalism and UIU spirit.

SPC hosted the Gift of Giving event on Dec. 11 and 12, 2023, which included four featured student-led projects: Classroom Improvements, Athletic EmpowHERment, Campus Beautification and SPCGives Back. Thanks to the generosity of 62 donors, the event generated $5,027 for these student projects!

“SPC collected feedback from fellow students and thoughtfully crafted these four initiatives for this year’s fundraiser,” said Belle Wagner, SPC student leader. “Strengthening the classroom, campus and student-athlete experience are all very important to us, as is finding fun ways to grow the student body at UIU.”

The excitement and sense of Peacock pride generated by SPC’s Gift of Giving event would not be possible without the loyal support of our donors. We are proud to thank and recognize all supporters at uiu.edu/SPCgift.

SPC connected with fellow students at the UIU Clubs & Organizations Fair, held Sept. 6, 2023.

Looking ahead, SPC is gearing up for its 2024 Class Gift initiative. All student donors who participate by making a gift to UIU will be recognized during Commencement on Saturday, May 4, 2024. Supporters will receive a philanthropy cord to wear with pride as a symbol of paying it forward. The Class of 2023 garnered 124 donors, raising $3,001. This year, SPC aims to surpass that.

EMPLOYEES Give Back

Mariea Schnor '89, '13, associate professor of business and accounting, and Jen Brady, financial aid specialist, volunteer at the American Red Cross blood drive on Nov. 6, 2023.

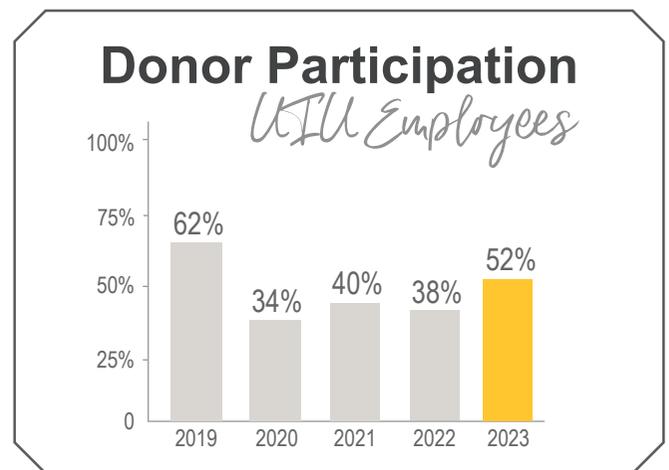

An important milestone was reached during fiscal year 2023 when over 50% of Upper Iowa University employees elected to make a donation to the University. This statistic illustrates just one of the many ways that a dedicated and talented assemblage of faculty and staff play an integral role in paving the way for the success of current and future students.

When alumni are asked to share what they remember most about their time at UIU or who most impacted their collegiate experiences, it's commonplace for them to reference faculty or staff members by name, no matter how much time has elapsed since graduation. There is little question that the passion of UIU employees makes possible an education and experience that is unique when compared to many universities.

Faculty and staff have embraced UIU's effort to promote a culture of giving and service within the institution. The generosity of UIU employees may take many forms, be it making an extra effort to help a student succeed, cheering on accomplishments outside of the classroom, or simply coming to work every day with a positive attitude and a desire to make UIU a better place for everyone. UIU employees also give back to UIU and the communities it serves throughout the year in other ways, such as volunteering on Fayette Appreciation Day, participating in service projects on Martin Luther King Jr. Day or utilizing UIU's employee benefit that allows for eight annual hours of paid time off for volunteering.

During fiscal year 2023, 52% of UIU employees contributed to a variety of important University initiatives, including Student Philanthropy Council projects, UIU Giving Day, UIU Athletics' Peacock Power Challenge, Dean's Funds, scholarships and much more. Many employees also make recurring gifts by utilizing a payroll deduction process. Cumulatively, these gifts make an enormous impact, with over $63,000 donated by employees during the fiscal year. To learn more about the Employee Giving Campaign and to see a list of employee donors, visit uiu.edu/FSG. Thank you to all UIU employees who have chosen to give back to UIU! 🏆

Staff Spotlight

K "I choose to give back to Upper Iowa University because I believe in the University. As a first-generation college student, I understand the importance of having a dynamic support system. UIU has this system, and I want to ensure all students can access it."

Cedar Rapids Center Coordinator

ALUMNI Association

The Alumni Association board of directors' mission is to promote goodwill, create a dynamic alumni program, build loyalty, increase involvement and generate support for the University.

During the board's annual meeting on Oct. 17, 2023, a new slate of officers was elected. Congratulations to Jeff Stavnes '76 (board president), Tom Petsche '75 (board vice president) and Ron Bergfeld '77 (board secretary). We thank Danny John '16, '18 (former board president) and Tom Webber '69 (former board vice president) for their leadership and service. In addition, we appreciate the years of service given by outgoing members Aaron Calkins '16, Don Lyons '82, Michael Salmons '76 and Zuraidah Zakaria '06.

The Alumni Association is pleased to welcome two new board members (l-r): Jill (Northrop) Buchan '02 and Daniel Cuadra '03.

Cuadra received his athletic training degree from Upper Iowa in 2002. He is a former Peacock wrestler, is a member of Sigma Alpha Tau and the Student Athlete Advisory Committee, and was honored as UIU Homecoming king during his senior year. Currently, he works at Baptist Health Hospital as an orthopedic outreach/certified athletic trainer in Miami, Florida.

"I am very excited to be able to give back to UIU and help the alumni community," said Cuadra. "Hopefully with my past experience, I can provide great service. My strength would be that I am very passionate and have the energy to see things through."

Jill earned her elementary education degree in 2002. While on Fayette Campus, she played softball and volleyball, ran women's track, and was a member of EYE Sorority. She is currently a peak performer for Optavise, representing Washington National. Jill and her husband, Ben Buchan '99, have four children and reside in Ankeny, Iowa.

"My best ability is to build relationships. Without a doubt, this is a skill that everyone notices about me. I always meet people on their level and always make time for people," said Jill. "Being involved in countless academic activities and playing on the UIU volleyball and softball teams enabled me to build a huge Peacock network that spans the world."
